

MAKOKIBATAN LODGE

American Plan

OUR FISHING

The legendary Albany River, once one of the main water highways of the fur trade to Hudson Bay, is better known today as the home of over-sized walleye, northern pike and speckled trout. Our fish thrive in the clear, cold waters of Albany-fed Makokibatan Lake. The short season between spring thaw and fall freeze-up means our big, trophy-class fish are always ready to smash a fly, lure or natural bait. Whether you're a beginner or a veteran angler, we offer you the kind of fishing you've only dreamed about.

YOUR FISHING RETREAT

Your 3-bedroom log cottage boasts the best of everything. If your "wish list" includes a hot shower at the end of a full day, then you'll love our three-piece bath. Your cottage also includes a bar fridge for your snacks and beverages, and a wood furnace for those chilly nights. When that clean northern air finally does you in, you'll find comfort in our top-quality twin beds complete with warm woollen blankets.

OUR GATHERING PLACE

The main lodge at Makokibatan provides spacious, comfortable seating where anglers gather to share their stories of the day, the tips about which baits worked and which didn't, and of course, the absolute truth about the monster that got away. Lodge meals and shore lunches are a feature of the trip you'll never forget.

MAKOKIBATAN LAKE is over 18 miles long, and famous for its large and plentiful walleye. Our 16 foot boats with 25 hp motors will get you to your favorite spots quickly. The cold water and steady currents of the mighty Albany River also provide for some monster northern pike. If you're in search of even more adventure, let one of our experienced guides take you downstream through rapids in search of the legendary Albany River brook trout.

"Just a word of thanks for our recent trip to Makokibatan. The cabin and the fishing were outstanding, well beyond my expectations. I look forward to fishing the mighty Albany again."

Jay Garcia, Livonia, MI

